HAVAS

London, 29th—The occupation of Adua by the Italians is fully confirmed.

Paris, 29th—The Deputies have named a Committee of 55 members to report on everything in reference to Custom Houses. Of these 55, 39 are openly declared Protectionists and opposed to the renewal of the existing commercial treaties.

GALVESTON.

London, 27th.—More intelligence arrived to-day about shipping disasters caused by the storm on European coasts. The barque Ledlaw, which arrived at Queenstown from Pisagua, was ten days in the hurricane and lost her first mate. The ship Locmoidart, which left Pisagua on November 2nd for Hamburg, went ashore at Callantsoog, Holland; thirty of her crew were washed overboard and perished.

Berlin, 28th—The fetes for Emperor William's birthday yesterday were quiet. He received a number of Princes, Generals and others, and 2000 officers of the army.

London, 28—Lord Salisbury and Mr. Smith, leader in the Commons have sent an urgent circular to the Conservative members to be at their posts on the 11th February, as most important matters will be at once submitted to Parliament.

Brussels, 28th—The Anti-Slavery Conference has resumed sittings. The Independence Belge says that the British delegate will abandon the right of search.

Washington, 28th—Mr. Creary has moved in the House of Representatives that Government produce the correspondence with Brazil about the recognition of the new Government in that country. The President of Foreign Affairs Committee objected, and Creary at once proposed a resolution to the effect as his motion. The Republicans show a disinclination to recognise the Government of Brazil, and the Democrats are anxious to increase the difficulties of their position.

SALVE BOCAYUVA!

Quintin Bocayuva is welcomed to the Plate, not merely as the special plenipotentiary who has signed the Misiones treaty, but also as the Apostle of the new Brazilian Republic, which between night and morning sprang into existence from the crumbling ruins of a South American throne.

As a national welcome, there was nothing wanting in yesterday morning's demonstration. The leaders of men met him at the mole. They decked the streets with Brazilian flags. They adorned his hotel; even the very livery of the servants and coachmen at his orders was Brazilian from head to foot. The grandest suite of apartments in the grandest of our hotels was fitted up for his accommodation, and at night the largest theatre in this city blazed with youth and fashion and beauty to magnify the welcome. We never before remember such a demonstration; and let us trust and hope that the result will be to draw still closer the ties of friendship and of trade between the two countries.

Mr. Bocayuva lands here in the very zenith of a severe crisis on both sides of the Plate. The very day he left Montevideo there was a krach in that market that brought down all the stocks there; and here, although we are not much better, we laugh and we shout, Viva Bocayuva! when most of us have tears in our eyes at the monstrous depreciation of our currency and the lifeless pyramid of unsaleable and unquotable stocks that rears its gaunt head high over the Bolsa, the Government House, and even the dome of our Cathedral.

We point to all this in order to shew to our guest the unconquered sympathy we all feel for his country and his infant Government; and to give even greater shine to the welcome afforded him, satisfied as we are, that he is far too deep an observer of human affairs to allow the crisis under current which flows beneath the surface of everything Argentine to escape his notice.

It may be that the boundary lines of his Misiones Treaty are so favorable to this country that future generations will bless the hands that signed it; that the howling wildernesses, watered by unnamed rivers, and as yet untrodden by the foot of civilezed man, will in process of time become Argentine Provinces teeming with production and studded with the happy homes of a generation of Argentine people. The debt of the nation to Mr. Bocayuva for his share in this treaty has yet to be measured as regards its territorial liberality or geographical importance. We stop not to consider such details, but we stretch forth the hand of welcome to him from far higher motives, since his visit is pregnant with sequences to the two countries that may strengthen and consolidate the liberties of both.

All hail, therefore, to Quintin Bocayuva, Minister of a Government whose very origin has been apostrophised by Mr. Gladstone as the most solemn proof of the march of civilization. Dom Pedro was not a tyrant, but the most enlightened and liberal of monarchs; his throne was not tottering, nor did his people groan under political evils and abuses that corrupted society from the cottage to the government house; and yet in an hour himself, his Government and his dynasty were overthrown. What a lesson to all, whether in the Plate or in Europe.

The elements that produced this mighty change are still at work. The agent of those very elements is the guest of the River Plate to-day. We welcome him. Yes—but forty thousand times more do we welcome the cause which he represents. It is the cause. Bocayuva, study well the Plate.

"FLORES A ITALIA."

This most beautifully got-up book reflects as much credit on Mr Jacob Peuser, the editor, as upon the varied contributors who form a serried band of diplomats, poets, generals, travellers and editors, all paying homage to the art, genius and talent of Italy.

Mr Anthony Vigliani is the parent of the work; he conceived the idea of calling from the motley crowd of public men in the River Plate the chosen expressions of sympathy for his country, and in this he has been signally successful. With perfect exactitude he has reproduced these autographic odes to his country which in their diversified form of expression touch the same chord whilst revealing the different characters of those who pen them. — If the style is the man, then indeed the book before us is of the veriest importance. We have read them through and yield the palm to Carlos Guido y Spano, who in a single line pays more homage to Italy than in whole pages and chapters written in labored style by others.

It is impossible within the narrow limits of the columns of a daily paper to give our readers even a selection of those autographic dedications; we can only give the list of contributors and recommend those who care to study such matters to get the book from Mr Peuser and study it. The following is the list of contributors:—Dr Rafael Calcada, Dr Juan Antonio Argerich, Dr Eduardo L Holmberg, Francisco Seeber, Dr Juan José Montes de Oca, Lorenzo Gutierrez, Dr Miguel Morel, Dr Bernardo de Irigoyen, Dr Angel Justiniano Carranza, Cav. LONDON LETTER.

INFLUENZA.

PORTUGAL.

EUSTON CASE.

REVERBERATIONS FROM BRAZIL.

(From our own Correspondent.)

December 21st

You will read that in St. Petersburg, Paris, Vienna, Berlin and Madrid, cabinet ministers, postmen, actors, government clerks, school children and others are all down with the influenza. The epidemic has not yet reached London. Our medical men preserve a kind of armed neutrality in its regard. Whilst in Berlin and Vienna the medical mind is severely exercised in the formation of erudite theories, trying to catch the so-called "Russian Influenza microbe," our plain-sailing men of Harley Street seem to look upon the expected visitor only as an acute form of common catarrh attended by the usual symptoms of lassitude, slight fever and irritability. This view is however opposed to the admission some of our doctors make, that the last visitation of the kind was about 1832, previous to the appearance of the cholera. Some are of opinion that the present epidemic is always the herald of the cholera. But surely the "grippe" or ordinary influenza has been common enough since then. Consequently those must be right who look upon the new epidemic as a distinct disease. The extraordinary suddenness of its attack and the complete prostration of the patient seem to point in that direction. A very general medical opinion is that it is not contagious in the ordinary sense of that term. A patient may communicate germs to the air which are wafted here and there and are as likely to affect someone in the next street, or in the next country as anyone living in the same room as the patient. The germs are supposed to travel slowly, but the speed is of course determined by the continuousness of the wind in one direction. There is no need for you to furbish up your lazzaretto if the wind sets in from the north and east. The epidemic has not yet crossed the channel. It is still possible that it might reach the United States. They have had very summer-like weather there as we have had, and it is found, in Russia at least, that the influenza prevails after any sudden rise in the temperature at this season. Amongst the recent and present sufferers, are M. Tirard, M. Spuller, M. de Freycinet, M. Rouvier, M. Clemenceau, M. Milhor and Madame Judic. 101 out of 352 female clerks in the Paris Savings Bank are disabled from duty. In Madrid the business of many of the public departments is completely at a stop. It was reported that Count Moltke was one of the victims at Berlin, but this is not confirmed. The complaint is not dangerous. It yields to ordinary treatment and lasts in its acute form from two to four days. At Odessa upwards of forty thousand persons have so far been attacked by the epidemic. In Frankfurt and the North of Germany it has taken a milder form.

The difficulty between this country and Portugal in regard to South Africa remains in statu quo. We are waiting for reports from the scene of action. Meanwhile the Lisbon papers, supported, of course, by some of their Paris contemporaries have accused the Scotch missionaries of murdering Portuguese subjects and of having incited the natives to attack Portuguese settlers in whose aid Major Serpa Pinto had to march in self defence. Unfortunately for the—I will not say truth—but for the probability of such inventions, we hear today from Vienna that the Portuguese Minister of Foreign Affairs had himself stated some time ago in the Chambers that he had sent Lieutenant Cardoso on a mission to South Africa in support of Portuguese settlers. Lieutenant Cardoso is now there, and the assumption is that Major Serpa Pinto is acting on instructions carried from Lisbon by the first named officer.

In the Graphic of this week you will see a portrait of Serpa Pinto, and a finer, a nobler, a more lion-faced filibustering Garibaldi-like head and physiognomy could not be conceived. Pinto seems of the stuff the great Portuguese discoverers of the sixteenth century were made of. It is a pity he has not a better cause and more hope than he can possess in his present venture. The main dispute is in reference to the Shir or Shiré district. The Shire river flows out of Lake Nyassa, Lat. 15 o South and falls into the Zambesi Lat. 20 It is question at least of 300 miles. At the mouth of the Zambesi five degrees North of Delagoa Bay the Portuguese have a port, Quilmane, where they, after their kind, levy high duties, export and import. The English, it is said, have discovered a new route to the Nyassa country to avoid these imposts, and hence much of the ill humor of our Portuguese friends. There is no doubt that Portugal has a claim to the Zambesi, and may rationally claim a fair share of territory on its left or northern bank. But as we approach Nyassa—on the maps—we see that the very names of some of the places are English or Scotch, such as Blantyre, etc. The Nyassa was the scene of Livingstone's mission years ago. It is only lately that the Portuguese bethought them of occupying the country north of the Zambesi at all. And as they had not occupied it, Lord Salisbury refuses to recognise their claims within a certain boundary. What that boundary may be I cannot tell you, and I do not think that Lord Salisbury knows himself. There's the rub. He seems to have made one arrangement with the Portuguese Government and another with Lord Balfour of Burleigh, who prodded him on with threats of pains and penalties in this world and the next, on behalf of the Free Church Mission. As for the Shiré district, in the neighborhood of Nyassa, or within two hundred miles of it, he told his friends that there was about as much danger of the Portuguese coming there, as of their going to Table Bay. However, we have yet to be informed as to where Major Serpa Pinto happens to be, and what may be his notions as to Portuguese boundaries in the Shiré country. The Pope may have something to say, and there may be a new League, and a religious war on the torrid and silent banks of the Shiré. Otherwise the English claim is what they have just granted to Germany, in East Africa, in Wallfish Bay, and in the Cameroon territory. "No occupation, or no flag, no claim" seems to be the first note of the political game of "grab," and "beggar my neighbor." Little do the poor Africans know what there is in store for them. We all hope fervently that what is left of them two hundred years hence may be spiritually saved by Portuguese or by Scotchmen. It is pleasing to hear that Mr. Stanley has expressed his opinion at Zanzibar that a roaring trade is in store for us in Central Africa. But Mr. Stanley's opinion of commercial possibilities must be uncommonly like Mr. Melton Prior's opinion of the possible yield of nitrate. That gentleman and illustrated-paper artist was put up by Col. North a day or two ago to enlighten the shareholders of the Primitiva Mine. The shareholders went away not perfectly satisfied or much edified. As for Central Africa, it will, like India, give many a chap a "ne berth, but as for trade, it will give little in this generation or the next. What does the whole Bonny or Gold Coast trade amount to after years and years? What may be the trade statistics of the much vaunted Free State of Congo? Certes, there has been an unexpected boom in crocodile hides and lizard skins for ladies' purses.

Lord Euston's libel case has been postponed till the January sessions. His counsel, Sir Charles Russell and Mr. Charles Matthews, applied for a postponement on the plea that the case was "a very difficult one." Had the defunct Mr. Parke, editor of the North London Press, made such an application we could have understood it. Lord Euston's case was plain enough if the statements he made are truthful.

The London correspondent of the Liverpool Daily Post said yesterday that the Prince of Wales had ordered Prince Albert Victor to return home from India immediately. This morning an official announcement appears in the papers contradicting that statement. I think it fair to copy a small paragraph in to-night's P. M. G. on that subject. Your indignant contemporary says:—"A curious paragraph appears in the papers this morning, and has evidently been communicated from Marlborough House; Prince Albert Victor will not return from India until the end of March, and there is no intention whatever of shortening his Indian tour. The public are further reminded that the visit was arranged nearly a year ago—a fact which has been conveniently forgotten by Dame Rumour in the reckless stories of late months. We are glad to read the paragraph and congratulate the Prince upon the wisdom of his second thoughts."

The P. M. G. then falls into banalities about "lying tongues" and "rancorous gossip" which suggest the suspicion that the arch interviewer has been interviewed. Still Modern Truth's pertinent question is not answered except upon the hypothesis that the Government was in the first instance led away itself by lying rumour and rancorous gossip and on bein better informed it had plucked up courage to prosecute certain solicitors for conspiracy, accusing them of conspiring to interfere with the administration of justice. This is so funny I send you all that is said on the subject in the North London Press of to day; and also letters from Hammond the hell-keeper who received a certain amount of money to go to America. From whom he received it, we do not know. We are only assured that it was paid on behalf of the noblemen and guardsmen implicated in the scandal, and not by any government agent. But really we do not know what to think. We feel like respectable Englishmen in a place of worship where some cads have gained admittance and are mocking and hooting at all we most revere. The P. M. G, for example, who canonized Gordon naturally worships Johnston and Stanley. Dear me, the Johnston who is now face to face with Serpa Pinto is the James Johnston who did "Ja Ja" in Western Africa. And as for Stanley, the P.M.G. itself says this evening, "Mr. Stanley's letter this morning is one that his friends must wish he had not published."

The fact is, our worshippers are over-zealous and our gods lose their heads and put themselves too much in evidence. Look at the Brazil business. The Times and its fellow monarchs in Europe are by over zeal adding fuel to the republican fire they wish to quench. The Conservatives in general do the same through sheer and inherent stupidity. The St. Stephen's Review publishes a coloured cartoon representing the Emperor of Brazil stepping out of a boat at the landing place and received by a wooden-looking lot of European monarchs — including, I am grieved to say, our own revered sovereign. The Emperor points to a crowd of ruffians, representing socialists, and bids the monarchs—looking like the dolls in a barrel-organ—to beware, lest the fate that has attended him do not overtake themselves. Can you conceive the idiotic state of mind that suggested such rubbish in reference to Brazil. In Buenos Ayres you can not probe the depths of such political heathenism. Then there is the Czar, who is reported to have behaved with characteristic savagery to the Brazilian envoy at St. Petersburg. In Lisbon itself they are raising shouts for the republic, and these are faintly echoed in Canada and the British colonies. This reverberation—a temporary reverberation—in Europe, of events passing within the tropical regions of South America, is a curious example of what is called the "solidarity" of the nations of the world, netted together by steam and electricity. For my part, I can scarcely believe my ears when I am sitting in a swell restaurant listening to young English swaggerers, staunch Conservatives by want of education and by social position, and conservatives to their very shirt-collars and solitaires, laughing over the latest and most "rancorous gossip" and saying—"Don't think, 'pon m' word, that this kind of thing will last another 25 years. Look at Brazil!" Fie! what will they say in Rosario?

ARRIVAL OF MINISTER BOCAYUVA

The Minister and his party landed yesterday morning after a rather rough passage. The Eolo had no sooner been sighted than a crowd of boats left the molehead, and soon the State and stately barge, manned by 20 sailors, moved out to receive the great Republican. L. V. Varela and other intimate friends were the first to embrace him and welcome him to B. Ayres. While the embracing was going on on board, crowds were pouring towards the mole-head, and a multitude, 3000 strong, cheered the Minister as he approached the shore in the magnificent "falua". There was no disorder, and the procession was soon in marching order, cheering and "vivaing" as much as ever they could.

The Minister has a splendid suite of rooms in the Grand Hotel, and his party consists of some of the most distinguished people of Rio. He is accompanied by his daughters and the following gentlemen: Lout, A. Penha, Dr. Cochrane de Alencar, Dr. G.X. de Cunha (chief of Police in Rio), Mr. Pereira Netto (Revista Ilustrada), Dr. Samuel Pertence, Dr. Cyrus de Acevedo, Col. D. Cerqueira, Lieut. Leite, Dr. J. Araujo. All these gentlemen have a splendid list of services and may be looked upon as so many pages of contemporaneous history.

The Minister visited the Government House in the evening and was entertained by Ministers Zeballos and Quirno Costa. The STANDARD Reporter and others were presented to the distinguished visitor by the Home-Minister, who jocosely observed that now and then they took the liberty of roughly handling the Government. Mr Bocayuva stated that now and then that was very good, and shook hands with the reporters, calling them his colleagues.

Last night the Minister was, as announced, publicly received and welcomed in the Onrubia Theatre. Dr. L. V. Varela made a notable speech, and the Minister replied most eloquently. We reserve details for our next issue.

THE LOSS OF THE LEERDAM.

ACCOUNT OF AN EYE-WITNESS.

We find the following particulars of the loss of the steamer Leerdam in a paper received by the Atrato:—

Once more must be chronicled the miraculous preservation of nearly 600 half-clad human beings, after 12 hours' exposure in open boats at sea in bleak November. They were saved with nothing but bare life from Sunday night's collision between the Royal Netherlands steamship Leerdam, bound from Amsterdam to Buenos Ayres with emigrants, and the West Hartlepool steamship Gaw Quan Sia, en route to Hamburg from Singapore. The statement which follows was made to me by Captain Robert Lord, of the latter vessel, and leaves little to relate of the collision itself. But for the opportune sighting of the French steamship Emma, of Havre, Captain Basroger, at 2 p.m. on the 16th, half an hour after the funding of the emigrant vessel, another fearful calamity must, in consequence of the stormy sea which prevailed, have been added to similar tales of the deep. Happily but two fatalities occurred when during the dense fog at 2 20 a.m. of the 16th the Dutch vessel, as alleged, tore up the port side of the Gaw Quan Sia to an extent of 15 feet, and the engine-rooms were at once flooded, causing the death of two native firemen.

Utterly impossible as it was to accommodate more than the women and 110 children in the cabins of the Emma, the remaining 309 or so of those saved were compelled to huddle together unsheltered through the long hours previous to their landing at Cuxhaven at 9 this morning. A special train had been arranged to bring the unfortunates at once to Hamburg, where they arrived this afternoon. Many amongst the throng of spectators awaiting the coming of the train covertly wiped tears from their eyes when from the carriages scores of hatless, bootless, half-clothed infants were lifted out on to the platform. The pitiful sight of a hundred women similarly positioned, many of whose motherly instincts had led them to fill even their wooden shoes with rain water for their offspring during the terrible 12 hours on the open sea, was completed by the sight of the 30 half-frozen Malay, Hindoo, and Chinese seamen who followed, many of them in their native costume.

All praise is due to Captain Basroger and the crew of the French ship Emma, who so freely gave their clothing and food to the unfortunates, and when that came short, broached the cargo for further necessities. The English crew has been supplied with clothing and lodged by the Consul at the British Sailors' Home, and provision has also been made for 18 British subjects who were on board the emigrant ship. Captain Lord, of the Gaw Quan Sia, has made the following statement to me for publication:—

I have commanded my vessel since October 4th. We were bound from Singapore to Hamburg with a general ca go. The voyage proceeded all well until Portland, where we coaled. On the 14th a thick fog was experienced about two hours after leaving Portland, which lasted until Dover was reached. The South Sandheach lightship was passed about 3 p.m. of the 15th and the East Goodwin lightship at 3.30, about an hour after which a dense fog set in, which continued up to 2.20 a.m. of the 16th, the time of the casualty. Our crew consisted of 45 hands all told—ten British and the rest Bengalees and Chinamen. I had been on duty continuously, not having had my clothes off or laid down since Saturday morning I went down below about ten minutes before the casualty occurred. The vessel had been going at half speed from 7 o'clock to 10 o'clock on Sunday night, when she was stopped and soundings were taken. She was then put dead slow, which lasted until a masthead and red light were seen by Mr. Nichols, the chief officer on the bridge, right ahead. I heard the look-out man strike the bell three times, signifying a light right ahead. I heard my mate give the order hard-a-port and immediately ring the telegraph to half speed. —I at once ran out, and then saw that what proved to be the red light of the Dutch steamer Leerdam, of Rotterdam, had shut in, and that the green light was opening out. I said to the mate, 'Good God, he has shut in his red light.' Mr. Nichols answered 'Yes, he has starboarded his helm.' The steamer seemed to be coming on at full speed, and in a few seconds she struck our vessel on the port side just by the stokehold, making a sliding blow and coming into the engine room about four feet, smashing over fifteen feet of the side in above and below our water line. The engine-room and stokeholds filled immediately, drowning two Bengalee firemen.

"We were able to put out two boats, and when we found the other steamer was sinking, got out three more—the latter to save the crowds in the other ship. Our men rowed these boats in a tolerably calm sea to the Leerdam, by the crew and passengers of which they were filled. We hung on to the other vessel by means of lines as she continued to float, and six boats belonging to the Leerdam were got out and used. Just before daylight, about 5 a.m., I sent word that I had 6ft. of water in the hold. The captain of the Leerdam answered that he could still float for an hour. My crew saved next to nothing, as we threw everything overboard from the boats in order to save room and life. Those on board the Leerdam had been told that the ship was all right, so when the rush to the boats had to be made by them the greater number, nearly 600 men, women, and children, principally Dutch people, were half-clad. All these persons were in the open boats from 5 a.m. to 2 p.m., in a foggy, cold air, with a dangerously rising sea. Nothing was sighted until that time, when the French steamer Emma, of Havre bound for Hamburg, came up. Although of only 350 tons register, she took all on board. The women and children were sent below, and about 300 persons remained on deck until we landed at Cuxhaven this morning."

The Leerdam, 2,118 tons net, carried 330 steerage passengers and 20 in her cabin, and was manned by 42 hands. Amongst the steerage passengers were 18 British subjects, one of whom, Henry Gardner, of Loudon, states as follows:

"I joined the Leerdam at Amsterdam, being bound for Buenos Ayres. The majority of the emigrants were of a superior class to those who proceed to the States. We sailed at noon on Sunday, and all went well until early the next morning. We passengers had all turned in. The intention was to pick up additional passengers at Boulogne, Corunna, and another port. What we should in that case have done for boats when we saw our vessel go down I do not know, for as it was we still had to borrow three boats from the English steamer, which were completely filled, and in addition to this other passengers were told we could float for 24 hours yet until about ten minutes before we were ordered into the boats. Up to this time the nose of the Leerdam was still fast in the hole she had made in the English vessel's side. When we broke away she sank bow foremost within five minutes. It was impossible to save anything, first, because the Leerdam was insufficiently supplied with boats, and, secondly, because we were neither permitted to save anything nor told that it was necessary. The scene was indescribable. The panic below was awful. There was good order amongst the Dutch crew, but several of them had been drunk from the moment of starting, and even continued to sleep after the collision. That a fearful loss of life did not occur is solely owing to the calm weather and the use of the five boats placed at our disposal by the English Captain, Lord."

Both the foregoing statements were fully corroborated by the officers of the Gaw Quan Sia and the other passengers respectively. The Englishmen praise the French captain excessively, as well as his crew, but the Englishmen complain that the Dutch officer who was intrusted with the serving out of rations to the rescued people on board the French steamer Emma gave nothing to them, and when they asked for food they were threatened with a revolver held by the Dutchman. But if the Englishmen had nothing to eat from the time of the casualty to that of their arrival at Cuxhaven, they were well supplied on landing through the charitable hospitality of the German authorities at that port.

Railway Items.

In obedience to instructions from the Home Office, the Pacific Railway Company are now building a large shed at Vedia for grain from Lincoln.

According to Engineer Seidler's report, it appears that the bridge across the Arroyo Agua de Barranca, kil. 29, Dean Funes and Chilecito Railway, is in need of urgent repairs, having suffered some damage from the torrents. The bridge at kil. 57 is also in need of repairs; in fact this bridge will have to be rebuilt.

The Government has approved the contract between the National Railway Board and Messrs. Hume Bros., representatives of the Central Cordoba Railway Co. This contract is for the working of the railway extension from Tucuman to Chilcas for Government account. The Government will appoint an accountant with residence in Cordoba to liquidate all accounts of the trunk line and of the extension. Monthly balance-sheets must be forwarded to the Railway Board, and the contract is to last till the extensions to Jujuy and Salta are completed.

Government has ordered to be returned to J. Meiggs & Co. $100,000 in National Cedulas which they had lodged as guarantee for the construction of the Bahia Blanca and North Western Railway.

North West Argentine:—The 3rd ordinary general meeting of shareholders in this company was held on Tuesday, December 10th, 1889, at Winchester House, Old Broad Street, E.C., Mr. Edward Woods in the chair. The account give a statement of the capital of the company, and of the receipts and expenditure on capital account up to the present time. The expenditure on capital account amounts to £857,993, and that amount has been received by the contractors in the shape of deferred and preferred shares and debenture stock, in accordance with the terms of the contract. You will see also from the accounts that we hold a large balance on reserve, which is retained until the completion of the line, so that our financial position, I think, is a very sound one. You will also see that we have a large amount of cash at the bankers and in hand amounting to £86,000. The line was opened to Monteros, which is about half-way, on the 20th July, 1889, but the entire line was completed and opened, and the official inauguration by the Governor of the province took place on 28 September last. The work had been greatly delayed by floods which prevailed over the entire district and have visited the Argentine provinces. These floods not only interrupted the work on our line, but also greatly interrupted and damaged the works on the existing lines. The works are practically completed, and as you know trains are now running throughout the whole district from La Madrid to Tucuman. Something yet remains to be done in completion of the stations, which we expect will be done in a few weeks. Still, the stations as they are, are capable of accommodating the traffic. We have had a good deal of difficulty in conveying traffic by reason of the block that exists at La Madrid, arising mainly from the want of sufficient rolling-stock on the Northern line, and which has occasioned from time to time great interruption to the carriage of our material, and also considerable inconvenience and delay in the transfer of traffic from our line to the adjoining line of the Northern. For some months the block was so great that the Central Argentine declined to convey our material by reason of its being detained so long in their wagons waiting for transport over the other lines to our line. The Northern Railway are now very greatly increasing the quantity of stock, and we hope before long that obstruction will cease to exist. With regard to the traffic itself, it has increased steadily from the commencement; as section by section has been opened, the traffic has materially increased, but since the opening of the line through to Tucuman the increase has been very considerable. In the month of May the traffic was $3,927; in August it had risen to $5,693; in September to $7,598, and in October we have just received by telegram an intimation that the receipts have advanced to $18,000 per month, which is a very substantial proof of the traffic which is likely to come to the line. At the commencement of a line a return of £5 or £6 per mile per week is certainly a very good one. In September a large quantity of sugar and sugar-cane was carried, and there was also a large business likely to arise, and it had, to a certain extent, already arisen, in the transport of timber.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Bocayuva, the long expected, arrived at last yesterday morning; but the distinguished traveller, and indeed the whole party, looked decidedly "mal-de-mer-ish" and the worse for wear after the storm. The mole was full of people, who stared and cheered mildly. We give full particulars in another column.

Herr Thadeu Schulz, the great violinist, announces another concert to-morrow evening at Belgrano, in the Municipal saloons. It is for the benefit of the "Hermanas de Dolores", and all Belgrano society will be present. The programme is of the choicest, and Mr. Schulz will have the valuable assistance Mesdames Blume Santer and de Vinas, Misses Figueroa and Franckenberg, Professor Ronsberg and others. This is Herr Schulz's last concert, as he will leave next week for Rio.

One of the lawyers engaged in the "testamentaria" of the late Mr. Leguina gets a 20,000 dollars fee. It is not so very much, as times go here; but is enough to make the mouths of barristers in less juvenile lands water.

Our energetic correspondent "Scaevola" came up yesterday from the Mount and called upon us. He states the trip was delightful at the start, but the storm in the wee hours of the morning was so terrible that he and most of the party are completely "done up". He tells us that an Italian boatman, in a fit of enthusiasm, and perhaps mistaking him for the Minister, embraced him and actually refused to charge anything for the boat.

The collection at the Jockey Club for the benefit of the jockey Kellett amounted to $935. As Kellett leaves for Europe on the 4th February, we must request that all outstanding lists be sent in without delay, so as to enable us to close the accounts. We are pleased to see that Kellett, although still on crutches, is looking well. He tells us that from the moment his thigh was set all his symptoms were favourable.

The City Commissioners finished yesterday the sanction of the Finance Committee's Budget, cutting down some millions of the expenditure proposed by Lord Mayor Seeber. The most important change in the Budget voted was to re-establish the 28 Municipal doctors and six "accoucheuses", which means $90,000 a year. Several other increases

Fares from

Had a bombshell burst under the feet of the brokers this afternoon, there could not have been greater consternation in the hall when the news ran that Banco Constructor Shares had collapsed to 72 o|o. Had Municipal Lottery Bonds flared up to par, the sensation could not have been greater. The crowd in the hall grew dense, but the whole affair turned out to be a storm in a teapot, as only twelve hundred Constructor Shares were sold, rising from bottom price 72 to 78. This fall in quotations is all the more significant as the report of the bank for 1889 could not be better—a 14 o|o dividend and a million to the reserve. The fall must have been a speculative dodge.

Telegrams from Montevideo report National Bank Shares at 97 and Obras Shares at 32. This means a "statu quo." There are many people who affect to look at Montevidean affairs in the gloomiest light: they see blue ruin everywhere. We, for our part, think that it is in the nature of things that some agreement, some speculative "modus vivendi" must stave off the collapse threatening this month's liquidation. An instinct of self-preservation must prevent people on the Montevidean Bourse from resorting to extremities. It is highly probable that the brunt of the liquidation will be tided over to next month. There is no other way out of the difficulty, unless the whole crew want to jump overboard and sink all together. February is a short month: yet even twenty eight days' respite may save the speculative ship in the Mount. The heavy purchases of Obras and National Uruguay Bank shares effected this month for Buenos Aires' account are already an immense help to that market, and it is probable that these purchases will continue in February, if some confidence can be distilled into the situation. The pack yelping at the heels of bulls in the Montevidean Bolsa can be easily driven back by the slightest return of confidence: the rub is to effect this.

There was quite a spurt in Obligaciones of the Banco Constructor at the second ring: over four thousand were sold at $6.80 to $6.50 for to morrow, and $7 to $6.80 for February. Municipal Lottery Bonds, which are first cousins to the Obligaciones, closed at 45. The Obligaciones, whose face value is ten, are selling at seven; Lottery Bonds, with a face value of one hundred, are selling at forty-five.

About one million gold dollars were sold this evening; the premium closed at 121.80 for to morrow, 122 for the 31st, 121.50 for the end of February and half a point higher for the 31st of March. The gold market showed signs of heaviness all day, but did not fall much from the day's top prices.

A few National Bank Shares were sold this evening at 212. Provincial Cedulas showed renewed firmness; National were weak.

The following is a summary of operations effected this evening at the second ring:—

Messrs Benitez Hnos, the well-known land brokers, report great activity in so-called "pactos de retrovente." Last week they placed a million dollars in this fashion at 1½ to 2 o|o per month; they report millions of money offering for this kind of operation.

On Saturday Vice-President Pellegrini and the Cabinet Ministers will pay a visit to the port works and witness the practical inauguration of the first dock, for several ocean vessels will enter the dock.

Packet privileges were granted to day to the British steamer Pemptos.

The Government approved to-day the statutes of a joint-stock company formed to start coffee-houses and restaurants.

The Minister of the Interior gave orders to-day to the Riachuelo Works Committee to supply as soon as possible Mr Huergo with all the necessary plant to canalize the River Plate near Martin Garcia, to facilitate communication between the Parana and Uruguay ports. Engineer Huergo will choose his own personnel and superintend the works.

Mr. Baring arrived up this morning from Montevideo; also Mr. Pearson, jun.

Exchange on Montevideo was done at ¼ and ⅜ premium. This would mean that money is being sent down from here.

The works of the Ferro-Carril Pobladores are going ahead space, and soon the earthworks at the Tigre will be commenced.

Mr. Nicholas Clancy, one of the pioneer sheepfarmers of Areco, was welcomed today. He reports the camps good and country interests flourishing.

The rains in the South, we are happy to say, were general, and many parts that suffered from drought are now drenched.

Letters from London say that many Argentine railway concessions are offering in that market, but with little chance of being sold. The Bustamante concession has not yet been negotiated.

Mr. Daniel Dieckmann, the pioneer of Mar del Plata, was welcomed to-day by his legion of friends from the haunts of the Plazas Once and Constitucion, and the "consignatario" ring of the Bolsa. He states that there are more families in Mar del Plata this year than in the previous season, but there are not so many gentlemen.

We received to-day from the Washington Department a great volume, entitled, "Reports from the Consuls of the United States, 1889." We note a most exhaustive and instructive account of Paraguay by Consul Hill, who gives many interesting particulars of the commercial and political history of that country.

We take the following interesting items from the Montevideo River Plate Times: we call attention to the prices paid for building sites in Montevideo:—

"We are informed that a syndicate of English capitalists in Buenos Aires has offered to Sr. Piria the sum of 750,000 dollars for the site of twelve thousand varas, belonging to him in Calles Sarandi and Buenos Aires, with the object of establishing there a large deposit with a mole on the south coast. We understand the offer has not been accepted.

"The "solares" sold on Sunday by J. Maseo, on account of the National Company, in Calles Miguelete, Hocquard, Nicaragua, etc., fetched from $7.85 to $6.50 the vara. Total over 85,000 dollars.

"The lots sold on Sunday by Mainos and Jorge on account of the Banco Constructor Oriental, in Calles La Paz, Pagola, Miguelete, etc., fetched $3.20 to five dollars the vara.

"J. A. Sansevé sold on Sunday sites in Calles Miguelete, Justicia Republica, etc., at $2.90 to six dollars the vara. Total $23,470.

"The Credito Real Uruguayo will pay after February 5th, two per cent. on shares of the first series, and one per cent. on those of the second, being interest for November and December.

"1987 bags and 8633 arrobes of wool arrived yesterday. Two thousand to three thousand arrobes sold in Feria at $4.40 to $4.50 the fleece.

"Mr. H. Piñeyrua has sold from his saladero three thousand salted hides at $6.25 heavy on board. Messrs. P. Denis and Co. have sold two thousand ditto at reserved price."

Sheep have been decreasing in numbers in the east of the United States for several years. This is because they cannot be grazed on high-price lands and compete with free grass and cheap land in the West. For instance, there were 2,820,000 sheep in New England in 1840. In 1889 there were only 1,450,000. In 1840 there were 7,403,000 sheep in the Middle States. In 1880 there were only 3,801,000. Illinois had 500,000 sheep less in 1880 than in 1870, and Ohio had 26,000 less. Virginia decreased nearly 1,000,000 in ten years ending 1887. Indiana lost 500,000 sheep and Michigan over 800,000.

From Mr. Julius J. Smith's book "Monedas Estranjeras," we take the following values of gold coins in Argentine paper-money at to-day's premium of 121.80 o|o:

	$ m|n.		$ m|n
£ stg. equal to	11.18	U. S. Eagle	22.98

Dr. J. Collis Browne's
CHLORODYNE.
THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE

Advice to Invalids.—If you wish to obtain quiet refreshing sleep, free from headache, relief from pain and and anguish, to calm and assuage the weary achings of protracted disease, invigorate the nervous media and regulate the circulating systems of the body, you will provide yourself with that marvellous remedy discovered by D. J. Collis Brown, (late Army Medical Staff), to which he gave the name of CHLORODYNE, and which is admitted by the profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.
CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma.
CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery.
CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, and Spasms.
CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

From Symes & Co., Pharmaceutical Chemists, Medical Hall, Simla, January 5 1880. To J. T. Davenport, Esq., 33, Great Russel Street, Bloomsbury, London
Dear Sir,—We embrace this opportunity of congratulating you upon the widespread reputation this justly esteemed medicine, Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne, has earned for itself, not only in Hindostan; but all over the East. As a remedy for general utility, we must question whether a better is imported into the country, and we shall be glad to hear of its finding a place in every Anglo-Indian home. The other brands, we are so sorry to say, are now relegated to the native bazaars, and, judging from their sale, we fancy their sojourn there will be but evanescent. We could multiply instances "ad infinitum" of the extraordinary efficacy of Dr. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne in Diarrhœa and Dysentery, Spasms, Cramps, Neuralgia, the Vomiting of Pregnancy, and as a general sedative that have occurred under our personal observation during many years. In Choleraic Diarrhœa, and even in the more terrible forms of Cholera itself, we have witnessed its surprisingly controlling power. We have never used any other form of this medicine than Collis Browne's from a firm Conviction that it is decidedly the best, and also from a sense of duty we owe to the profession and the public, as we are of opinion that the substitution of any other than Collis Browne's is a deliberate Breach of Faith on the part of the Chemist to prescribe and Patient alike. We are, Sir, faithfully yours, Symes and Co., Members of the Pharm. Society of Great Britain. His Excellency the Viceroy's Chemists.
Caution.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated that Dr J. Collis Browne, was, undoubtedly, the Inventor of Chlorodine; that the story of the defendant Freeman was deliberately untrue, which he regretted to say, had been sworn to,—See "The Times," July 13, 1864.
Sold in bottles at 1s. 1½d., 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. each. None is genuine without the words "Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne" on the Government stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle.
Caution.—Beware of Piracy and Imitations.

Notice.

We are always willing to take charge of ordinary letters (but not registered letters) addressed to our care, and these, as our readers well know, we advertise in our columns; this, however, we are unable to do with the enormous number of newspapers sent to THE STANDARD for new comers and others; we have now such an immense accumulation of these that the receptacles devoted to their reception in our office are over-crowded. We must, therefore, beg all persons expecting newspapers to call for them at their earliest convenience, in justice both to themselves and THE STANDARD.

ESPECIFICO DE Hayward en Polvo

The cheapest and most effectual Dip in the market.

It costs a fifth of the price of Tobacco Dips.

It is the easiest of application, cold water only required.

It is the only Dip that is so durable in the wool as to keep the sheep clean and free from contagion from dipping to shearing, thus saving a great deal of valuable time and labour to the Estanciero during the winter months.

It is fast becoming the favorite Dip throughout the world, as it never fails in the worst cases of Scab.

See Testimonials from Flockowners in the Argentine Republic.

Manufactured by TOMLINSON & HAYWARD, Lincoln, ENGLAND.

Established upward of 45 years.

Sold in cases containing either 80 small, 20 medium, or 10 large packets. Each case makes 1600 English gallons, or 1900 Galones Argentinos.
